Tariff reform is the Democratic battle-cry and fearlessly advocating its great principles, the party of Jefferson, Jackson, Tilden and Cleveland is certain to achieve a glorious victory on Nov. 8.

The Republicans, however, will not give in without an effort, and from now until election day every foot of vantage ground will be vigorously contested by the two parties.

The Democracy has one great advantage. It is the party of the people and is its avowed champion in all matters concerning its interests. It has gained the thorough confidence of its followers, and all believe that with Cleveland at the head of the Government a wise, conservative and economical administration will be secured. Its advocacy of a reform in the tariff has gained to its banner thousands who are beginning to realize that protection is a sham and the McKinley bill a hollow mockery. Under the specious reasoning that a high tariff made high wages a great number of voters were lured away from their Democratic allegiance. The majority of these, however, have had their eyes opened and on Nov. 8 may be counted upon to vote for the Democratic candidates.

Everything points to Democratic success.

The Democratic ticket, sold, Connecticut, New Jersey and Indiana may be relied upon to do their duty, while the numerous party in this State will make its thirty-six electoral votes certain for Cleveland and Stevenson.

It is not good politics to let the Democratic managers have this year turned to the West, where in the Congressional elections of 1890 the most crushing rebuke was administered to McKinley.

The States of Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan and Indiana give five Democratic promises, and these it is purpose to help win for Cleveland and Stevenson through the agency of the Western Democratic campaign fund.

The farmers of the West are a particularly intelligent set of voters. They are courageous, that they are imposed upon and are anxious for a change that will bring them relief.

They are amenable to argument, and if the benefits of tariff reform are properly brought to them their Democracy will gain thousands of converts.

A campaign of education costs a great deal of money. To make a thorough canvass, able and convincing speakers should be sent into every town, village and city of the States mentioned. Campaign literature pointing out the benefits of tariff reform and exposing the shams protection should be scattered broadcast. No faltering voter should go un-reached. The truth should be spread before him and facts will do the rest.

The Republican party has blithely looked upon this territory as its own. It has never felt called upon to defend it. But the vigorous canvass which the Democrats will force the Repub-

Needs to make an effort. This will cost money, and a great portion of the amount with which they intended to deluge New York will be diverted to the West. New York in this way will be relieved of one great danger.

The Republican party as the party of plutocracy will have immense sums of money at its disposal. The manufacturers will be compelled by legislation that burdens all with gradually increasing taxes in order to keep up a party that means so much to them. The Democrats will have to fight against tremendous odds, but with the right on their side and the assistance of every local Democrat the victory can be won. A campaign in the West promises great things for the Democratic candidates. Will you be one, then, to help him along? Give of your means liberally and help to make Cleveland's election a national triumph. Your dollar, quarter or dime may be the means of winning a Democratic vote. Subscribe, then, to this fund, and persuade your friends and neighbors to do the same.

PHANTOMS.

The hopes of ours held out in the advertisements of numbered remedies are mere phantoms, without the slightest shadow of reality about them. On the other hand, no statement has ever been made in behalf of Hostetter's stomach Bitters that is not susceptible of ample substantiation. Care has ever been taken in laying its claims before the public to circumscribe these claims with the bounds of truth. Allegations outside of these form no basis to record on the title of this paper.

Gentlemen—Good-evening, my little dear Is your papa at home?
